TOPIC: HEARING AIDS IN 2015

Hearing aids are not like they used to be. Recently, hearing aids have improved to use updated technology which provides usable options for active and advanced life styles.

Improvements include:

- 1) Syncing your hearing aid with your Apple iPhone. This happens to be the most popular improvement for the hearing impaired population. This allows phone calls to go directly from your smartphone to your hearing aids and also allow you to stream music and all other audio signals to your hearing aids. No headphones needed.
- 2) Apps are also available which allows you to control your hearing aids. You can use your smartphone in place of a remote - control to change programs, fine tune program settings, adjust volume, microphone zoom, and reduce background noise. With the ReSound Smart App you can do all of that effortlessly. You can even download this free App and practice using it in demo mode.

- 3) The ReSound Smart App also has a "Find my hearing aid" option. My patients love this feature. I enjoy hearing success stories about how my patients found their hearing aids instead of how they lost them.
- 4) Tinnitus (ringing in the ears/head) relief is available through a built in sound system in the ReSound Linx2 hearing aids. This allows a patient to select a more relaxing sound to listen to instead of the high-pitched ringing noise they hear in their ears.

These features are making a big difference for the hearing impaired and the popular "baby boomer" population. They are enjoying better hearing at work, meetings, restaurants, and can also listening to their music while hiking and traveling.

Now that you are aware of the many improvements of hearing aids, please call our office to schedule an upgrade appointment. We would love to show you how well you can hear.
